
FLIGHT NURSE

Experienced RNs who:

- ♦ assist with planning the details of air travel and care.
- monitor, and offer care, during the travel day and in-flight.
- offer increased security through companionship.
- add peace of mind.

How do you balance the stress and risks of air travel with the well-documented positive effects that fun, family, and relaxation have on your health?

By addressing and reducing your travel health risks.

TCL flight nurse companion services are designed to assist individuals from one location, to their destination, when traveling by aircraft.

Our nurses help plan for on-going health care needs both during travel, and at your destination.

WHO SHOULD

- Families working to relocate senior-aged parents, when they are moving from one state to another (or between countries).
- Active seniors who desire assistance to travel to their second residence, or who need vacation assistance.
- Individuals seeking time with distant family, or who travel for special family occasions.
- Individuals traveling to and from distant medical or rehabilitation centers for care or testing.
- Individuals who enjoy cruises, but need assistance to, or from, the port of departure.
- Seniors who travel for fun, joining groups or friends at their destination, but wish assistance en route.

You

We can help you:

- save time, as we assist you in making travel arrangements that best meet your medical and physical needs.
- save aggravation, by arranging medical clearances, and equipment necessary for a safe flight.
- reduce worry, by addressing the concerns of travel on your health.
- reduce stress, by assisting with navigation of busy airports, their security, and with boarding the aircraft.
- gain confidence, as we share our knowledge and experience.
